FREDERICK S. BLACKALL, JR.
WOONSOCKET, RHODE ISLAND

Orchard House,
Cumberland Hill, R.I.
Sept. 1961

For the past 30 years or more, I have been compiling the genealogical history of my family. The record is well documented and has been based on extensive family records in my possession, as well as a good deal of library research and the like. While my own contribution to this effort spans only perhaps a third of a century, it has been, in reality, a continuance of many years of study and research by my late father, Frederick Steele Blackall, my maternal grandfather, the late Henry Bascom Brown of East Hampton, Connecticut, my first cousin once removed, the late Clarence H. Blackall of Cambridge, Massachusetts, and others.

In order to preserve these labors for the benefit of any who might be interested in my branch of the Blackall family and related lines, I am depositing copies of this work in the New England Historic Genealogical Society and in the Library of Congress, both of which have agreed to place them on their shelves and include them in their indices. I hope they will prove useful to more than one future researcher in the interesting field of genealogy.

Copies have also been given to my sister, nee Dorothy Blackall (Mrs. Heman Judson Pettengill) of Falmouth, Massachusetts, and three other copies are in my rather extensive personal genealogical file in my office in Woonsocket, Rhode Island, and my residence in Cumberland Hill, Rhode Island. My children, F. Steele Blackall, III, of Cumberland Hill and Woonsocket, Rhode Island, and my daughter, nee Marilyn White Blackall (Mrs. Kenneth Gray Wheeler), of Cumberland Hill, Rhode Island, will ultimately receive copies and custody of my files.

The latter are always available for reference to any interested parties, and I should also be particularly grateful if any student of these pages should be able to supply me with missing data pertinent to this genealogy.

Frederick Steele Blackall, jr.

EXPLANATION.

THE following tables contain blanks for the registration of ten generations of the ancestry of any person. The generations are marked by Roman, the individuals by Arabic numerals.

The three latest generations, i. to iii. will be found on page 1; the seven earlier ones, iv. to x., on the remaining sixteen pages or eight sheets of the book. Each sheet, or pair of pages as the book lies open, will therefore show the ancestry of one of the eight great-grand-parents.

Page 1. i. 1 is for the compiler's own name and history.

ii. 2 is for his father; 3 for his mother.

iii. 4 is for his father's father; 5 for his father's mother; 6 for his mother's father; 7 for his mother's mother.

iv. This is a key or guide to the pedigrees of the eight great-grand-parents which are to fill the remaining eight sheets. In each space is to be written only the name and surname of each great-grand-parent (the wife with her maiden name); each couple over their own child, with the husband's name at the left. The pages referred to form the eight sheets on which the ancestry of the great-grand-parents is to be written.

For example --iv¹ is the great-grand-father who bore the family name; on pages 2 and 3 a corresponding space iv² will be found, in which his name and history are to be written. On these pages v¹ is for his father, whose ancestry thus fills the left hand page; v² for his mother, whose ancestry thus fills the right hand page. The whole ancestry of each great-grand-parent can thus be seen at a glance. The other sheets are to be filled in the same way. When the name of any ancestor is entered more than once, it may be found convenient to use red ink in making the subsequent entries.

It will be noticed that (except sometimes in i) the even numbers fall to the men, the uneven ones to the women. Also that the ancestors who have borne the family name are marked by numbers representing the powers of 2, -- 2, 4, 8, 16, 32, etc.

Sir Henry Blackall
Adah-Chiftlik,
Kyrenia-Cyprus.

30 May, 1961.

Dear Mr. Blackall,

This is a brief line to thank you ever so much for your letter of 3 May and enclosures which I read with great interest.

WILLIAM BEACKALL, READING. I have just heard from my friend in Berkshire. In the Parish Church at Checkenden Oxon. he found 5 Blackall memorials, including a tomb with the following inscription "William Blackall of Reading departed this life 26 Jan. 1761 aged 90. Mary his wife 10 Sept. 1761 ag. 58. Also William, their son, died 18 Jan. 1768 aged 30".

you The first mentioned is clearly the testator, whose will was proved 1767 (vide my letter 24 Feb.) and the dates fit with his son being your ancestor's father. If we can prove this it would carrige your direct line back to a man b. 1691 and indicate that, although living in Reading, your family originally came from Checkenden. Another memorial was that of Richd Blackall of Wallingford whose will (which I sent you) mentions Wm Blackall, and others of Blackalls of Braziers. I shall have copies of these made for you. My friend had not been to Hurst or Reading when he wrote, but said he would go there shortly.

ABSTRACTS FROM BLACKALL FAMILY RECORDS. I had no offprints made of these but find that there are a few copies left of the Journal in which it appeared, purchasable by members only. I have therefore written to the editor to send you a copy which I have much pleasure in presenting to you in return for what you sent me.

And now for my genealogical plans for U.K. I arrive in London on 27 June and shall see which of the relevant Blackall Wills are Prerogative and therefore at Somerset Ho. On 4 July I go to Oxford for a week and get what I can from consistory Wills and Parish Register transcripts etc in the Bodleian Library. I then go to Ireland but shall return to England in Sept. for a further month.

You mentioned you would be communicating with the Oxfordshire Record Society. The moving spirit is W. O. Hassall. Thanks to his efforts parish register transcripts are being transferred to the Bodleian. He tells me that many of these were kept in cellars at the Diocesan Office and that he salvaged a number that were damaged by flood water. He was most grateful to me for joining the Society as they find it difficult to keep up with the increasing cost of printing, and also because he likes to have descendants of local families as members. I joined the O.R.S. mainly because I feel it is deserving of support from those interested in Oxford families, but there are also practical advantages of being a member. As Mr. Hassall is Keeper of Western MSS at the Bodleian I shall ask him to note for me any interesting Blackall items he comes across. Then Blackall Genealogy.

Edward Blackall, 290 Beverly Road, Hull, England, wrote -
Letter December 14, 1912, stating that his father, William Blackall, was a native of Berkshire. This was presumably William Blackall, son of Francis Burton, born March 7, 1769, died March 7, 1840, or his son, William Blackall, Jr., born June 11, 1790, died
July 12, 1858 (probably the latter who was born in Berkshire).

Edward Blackall's son William worked for the Taft & Peirce in London in 1912. Edward Blackall, the father, was a Methodist minister at Hull.

Francis Burton was born in 1770, died 1807.

Benjamin Blackall was born in Berkshire, England, April 23, 1799 (father of Thomas S. Blackall).

Dear Mr. Blackall:

My son William of "The White Star Line" has written telling me of the interesting chat he had with you. I should like to have joined in the conversation. Our name is not common - and I think we must have sprung from the same stock.

My father - William Blackall - was a native of Berkshire. At Devonport there is a friend, with whom I have talked on the subject - he rejoices in the Christian and surname that I claim.

Ald. Edward Blackall, J. P.
Mayor, Devonport

He came to see me when I was in Liverpool. I showed him the portrait of Bishop Offspring Blackall - and we came to the conclusion that we might claim to have descended from so worthy a man!

There is a clergyman also somewhere near Oxford that I have heard of, and who has spoken to one of my brothers about the history of our family. If at any time you can get any information on the subject, I should indeed be delighted to have it.

My younger brother is an alderman and a J. P. and is Mayor of Ryde for the second year.

I, as you probably know, am a Wesleyan Methodist minister. So you see we are doing a little towards keeping up the dignity of the name!! Your stay in England, I hear, is short. I hope it will be a happy one.

With all good wishes for the Christmas season, I am

Yours very truly,

Edward Blackall

July
Sixth
Nineteen sixteen.

My dear Clarence:-

On one of my recent trips to England I ran across a fellow employed as clerk in the White Star Line offices by the name of William Blackall, and this meeting led to a letter being written by the Rev. Edward Blackall, a Wesleyan Methodist Minister at Hull, England, of which a copy is herewith enclosed. The Reverend Blackall also sent me, with his letter, the enclosed names and dates.

Thinking you might be able to piece out the family tree a little more in detail by having this data before you, I am sending it along for what it is worth.

Sincerely yours,

Frederick S. Blackall (Senior)

To Mr. C. H. Blackall,
20 Beacon Street,
Boston, Mass.
